

Today business executives must understand the importance of energy management. Energy usage and operational expenses are consistently changing; while energy costs fluctuate daily. Deregulation and competition among energy providers have flooded the marketplace with confusion rather than delivering anticipated energy savings.

Surviving in this ever evolving market requires you to take a proactive approach. Success is not predicated on internal management alone. You must have access to industry knowledge, resources, data and market intelligence that can be analyzed with an unbiased view. Solutions must be presented with a clear, concise, common sense approach for effective decision-making.

FEATURED SERVICES

MARKET & REGULATORY MONITORING

Daily and consistent monitoring of the commodity markets and regulatory environment, with timely updates of current developments.

RATE ANALYSIS

Review of the existing energy contracts, rates, pricing and terms for all facilities.

ENERGY PROCUREMENT

Facilitate the procurement of energy: Negotiate through “best practices” and present contract review, changes, pricing, options, cost and savings analysis for natural gas and electricity.

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Managing, tracking, storing and delivering all gas and electric services provided at every facility.
